Auditing of courses is not encouraged; however, in some cases it may be permitted if there is room available after students enrolling for credit are accommodated. Late registration is the only time students may register to audit a course. Students must receive written permission from the instructor via a general petition to audit a course. Students may pre-register for all courses except those intended for audit. The cost of auditing a course is the same as that charged for enrolling for credit.