

Benjamin (Ben) Snively, Academic Advisor

Assigned Programs:

- Respiratory Care
- Science (Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Environmental Science, Physics)

Education:

Bachelor of Arts, English Major - University of Wisconsin-Madison
Associate of Arts, English Emphasis - William Rainey Harper College

Background:

- 6 years of writing/editing experience in the digital marketing field
- 7 years of ghostwriting experience

Advising Philosophy: My job is to help students determine the best educational path for their goals. During appointments, I ask about over-arching career aspirations, possible transfer destinations, and important personal interests. The answers to these questions will help us iron out the ideal program and class choices for your unique situation.

We will also discuss any ongoing responsibilities that may influence schedule availability and workload. These details inform which courses will work best for certain semesters and help prevent work overloads. Together, we can work out a comprehensive academic plan that is designed around your needs.

Tips for Success: Before appointments, I encourage students to think about long-term goals and consider how Triton can benefit their next stages in life. Whether completing transfer-friendly general education courses, applying to a health career program, looking for job training, or pursuing personal interests, we can help you define a path to success. Depending on your goals, you may want to explore transfer destinations, research various programs, and prepare a list of questions before attending an advising appointment.

Fun Fact: I am enrolled in Triton's Music Program and attend courses every semester.