Triton College Administrator Dr. Purva Rushi Honored with National Accreditation Award

Triton College's Assistant Vice President of Institutional Initiatives, Planning and Accreditation Dr. Purva Rushi received the national 2022 "Eagle Eye" Award at the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) Annual Conference, April 2-5. The conference was held in downtown Chicago.

At the annual conference, the HLC honors a small number of peer reviewers with awards to those who have "extraordinary review skill and service over the past year in areas that are key to HLC's success as an institutional accreditor," according to Dr. Jamie Stanesa, vice president of Member Education and Peer Corps Service.

"Our 'Eagle Eyes' are those reviewers with a keen eye for detail, often catching something that others miss or overlook," said Dr. Stanesa. "These reviewers help keep HLC staff on our toes with their focus on quality improvement in our work at HLC. This year's winner was nominated by HLC staff."

Dr. Rushi was selected by the HLC from over 1,000 peer reviewers nationwide. She has been a peer reviewer for the HLC for seven years and chairs review teams.

"I'm very grateful and honored to receive this award," said Dr. Rushi.

HLC is an independent corporation that was founded in 1895 as one of six regional institutional accreditors in the United States.
