Community College Exposes Students to Different Careers

Triton College will Host Free Career Expo

Students can Explore Careers in Business and Technology

RIVER GROVE, Ill. – Are you a community member who's interested in a career in business or technology? Triton College will be hosting a Business and Technology Educational Career Expo on Wednesday, April 13, 5-7 p.m., in the B Building.

Attendees can explore careers in business, engineering technology, culinary arts, computer science and construction technology fields. They will also learn about possible careers in horticulture, information technology, architecture, hospitality, automotive and renewable energy.

The event is free and an RSVP is not required. The expo welcomes not only current Triton students, but also high school students and their parents who wish to learn more about possible career options.

“We want high school students and community members to see how Triton can prepare them for a career in those particular fields,” said Kenneth Smith, director of Admissions. “This expo will allow them to learn about educational requirements and opportunities.”

Smith said a tour of the specialized academic areas will be included. The goal is to promote academic programs that offer degrees and certificates in business and technology.

“I hope attendees come away with a greater understanding of the educational requirements needed for their desired career path,” Smith said. “They can see firsthand how Triton College will prepare them for their future.”
