

Coursework (Non-Surgical Technology Courses)

Completion of the general education courses prior to program admission will increase an applicant's chances for acceptance. Students who have completed the following courses will be at an advantage.

- AHL 202    Comprehensive Ethics                      3 Credits
- RHT 101    Freshman Rhetoric & Composition I            3 Credits
- BIS 222    Principles of Microbiology                      4 Credits
- PSY 100    Introduction to Psychology                      3 Credits
- SOC 100    Introduction to Sociology                        3 Credits
- SPE 101    Principles of Effective Speaking                3 Credits

If you haven't already successfully completed the courses listed above, seriously consider if you will be able to fit the additional courses into your already rigorous schedule or if it would be better for you to delay your enrollment until the non-surgical technology courses have been completed.

ALL program requirements must be fulfilled in order to complete the SRT program.
